James Madison's Pagan tombstone

James Madison (1751-1836) chief architect of the United States Constitution, 4th President of the United States.

Madison's burial site sits on his own grounds of Montpelier (where the architectural style reflects Pagan Greek and Roman tastes). Again, no references to Christianity.

Moreover, his tombstone resembles a Pagan Egyptian obelisk.

Thomas Jefferson's Pagan tombstone

Thomas Jefferson (1743-1826), our greatest American founder, author of the Declaration of Independence and 3rd President of the United States.
